

To extract the juice only the long-established fruits from the regional traditional orchards are used. With the provision of more than 15,000 young fruit trees, Kelterei Hoppe significantly contributes to the conservation of an unmistakable cultural landscape on its home ground.

The products from Kelterei Hoppe wine press house regularly receive high scores in quality tests by the "German Agricultural Society." The company has been certified for ecologically produced foods according to the regulation (EEC) number 2092/91 for more than 15 years already.
